

January is the month when the Caldecott and Newbery Medals are announced. We have a Mock Caldecott Contest at Manor School. LibraryAnne brings in 30-40 books written in the past year, that some people think could be candidates for the medal, and we read as many as we can. The students vote for their favorite, and then we await the official results, to see if we have chosen the same one as the experts. We haven't ever chosen the actual medal winner so far, but we've found some fantastic new books, and had a lot of fun exploring all the new literature. We'll post the results of our vote in late January. These are last year's top vote getters at Manor School.

Caldecott Medal Manor School Votes January 2009

Not a Stick	81 votes
Owney the Mail Pouch Pooch	22 votes
Hogwash	22 votes
It's Time to Sleep My Love	14 votes
Dog and Bear	14 votes
Jumpy Jack and Googily	13 votes
I'm Bad	13 Votes
Never Take a Shark to the Dentist	13 votes
Too Many Toys	12 votes
Tadpole Rex	12 votes
Boycott Blues	11 votes
The Dog Who Belonged to No One	11 votes
Who Ate all the Cookie Dough?	10 votes
Hello Day	9 votes
Scoot!	9 votes